For Children with Special Needs

As a parent of a special needs child myself, I found this work to be the best solution for him. There are no timetables to adhere to or performance standards to meet - only freedom to develop and progress at his own pace and to his fullest potential.

Want to Learn More?

Let's meet for a free consultation! I can answer any questions you may have about ABM, and can also demonstrate the work on you so that you can experience first-hand its gentleness and surprising effect on your sense of self.

WHY DOES NEUROMOVEMENT WORK?

NeuroMovement has been used successfully with adult stroke patients, elderly people with dementia, professional athletes recovering from injury, and children with cerebral palsy, Autism, ADD/ADHD or other developmental delays. A question that is often asked is, "How can one method be used on such different people with such different limitations and diagnoses?" The answer is actually quite simple - NeuroMovement focuses on a common element: the brain's ability to learn.

For children with disabilities, there is often some external interference with the brain's natural inclination to develop and learn as other children do. But the brain has a remarkable ability to change itself, and this work helps to create the new neurological patterns and connections that adapt to or overcome that interference, and lead to real transformations.
